We Hear You

Any gripes, kudos or ideas? Call 378-9136 to sound off.

I'm just sick about the vandalism at (John D.) Morgan Park. Trees have been uprooted, fountains broken and lights smashed. I heard that a bunch of light fixtures were broken in the latest incident. What's being done about it?

Park Lover

Editor's note: A total of 11 light standards were broken off in the latest incident. Public works is looking into making the bases of the light poles stronger to withstand the vandals. Also, in its application to the Santa Clara Valley Employment and Training Board, the City has asked for park security personnel who would patrol the area and keep an eye out for anyone causing damage. For those who live near the park, or use it, it would help if they reported to police any suspicious activity.

I saw that letter from the teacher and thought it was funny. If they're asking for a shorter work week what's wrong with reporting it?

Another Teacher

Teachers already work a 10-month year. I don't see any reason why they should expect to have a shorter work week too. Anyway, they can always ask. My union comes up with this proposal every contract time. Hasn't got it so far.

Doesn't Hurt To Try

On "60 Minutes" Sunday, May 22, I heard an appalling revelation about the hordes of "legal aliens" (we have already heard a lot about "illegal aliens") that are pouring into our country. Their main object seems to be to get on our relief rolls. And they are succeeding! Can you have an article in your paper, or do anything to interest our citizens in writing their Congressman about this problem of bureaucratic ineptness?

Arva Knowles

Editor's note: We contacted Les Frasier, our resident "expert" on the problem of legal and illegal aliens and he has a letter in today's PRESS that lays out the problem and gives some suggestions.

City tries for 11

No funds for local groups

By PAT SAFFORD

BECAUSE OF A complicated snafu, local non-profit groups found themselves out in the cold this week as the Santa Clara Valley Employment and Training Board ponders who to dole out an unexpected windfall in federal Title VI funds.

Meanwhile, the City got in under the wire with 11 staff positions requested for seven seperate projects ranging from security people to patrol John D. Morgan Park to a person to spruce up picnic tables and street signs.

It all started when Councilman Rusty Hammer, a member of the SCVET board of directors, asked for an extension of the filing deadline at the last meeting. He specifically asked that local non-profit groups be allowed to apply, along with cities. In a discussion with the Campbell City Council at their last meeting it was decided local groups would submit proposals for special projects to the city who would forward them onto SCVET with a cover letter. A two-member council screening committee was set up to review applications.

ASSISTANT TO the City Manager Kevin Duggan reported last week a substantial number of calls had come in. Callers were directed to a staff person at the SCVET office in San Jose for further instructions. What the callers got was notice that no applications from non-profit groups were being accepted since the deadline had passed.

Rusty, who left on a trip last week, heard of the snarl up and fired off a letter to the board before he left. In it he reinterated his motion, which was meant to allow non-profit groups to apply through their cities.

SCVET Executive Director Al Pinion feels his agency handled the matter correctly and that the minutes of the last board meeting will bear him out.

"That's what happens when you do these things on the spur of the moment," he commented, "You have mass confusion."

And confusion reigned last week as the city tried to find out the proper way to handle requests for funding. First they were told no non-profit groups would be considered, just city requests. Then, later, that non-profit groups could be funded if the city made the application for them and administered the program.

Supervisor Rod Diridon announced late Monday that any groups turned away earlier in contacts with the Santa Clara County Employment and Training Board should contact him before 5 p.m. Thursday, June 9.

Diridon said he will personally go to bat for local groups with fellow board members at Fridays meeting.

According to Diridon, chairman of the SCVET, groups who want to apply for Title VI funds should have the following information ready before calling his office at 299-2323.

- Name of orgainization and verification of a non-profit status.
- Number of positions and type of project they want funded.

But, whatever the proper interpretation, the fact is that at the June 1 deadline just one group had their proposal forwarded to the SCVET board for inspection. The Knight Raiders Drum and Bugle Corp is requesting a driver for their equipment truck.

CONTACTED on vacation last Sunday, Hammer reinterated his statement that the intention of that extension of time was to allow both city and non-profit groups to request funding. "If (the SCVET staff) was not allowing requests through the city on behalf of non-profit groups," Hammer declared, "then they were incorrect."

The SCVET board will meet Friday morning to review the 54 requests received on the May 25 deadline and the 20 additional requests that come through on or before the June 1 extended deadline.

Campbell's requests include;

- A surveyer to make a list of possible historical buildings, trees, sites, etc. for the Civic Improvement Commission.
- A technical assistant to do a special population needs analysis and suggest ways to fund and or improve Community Services offerings.
- One traffic and street maintenance record inventory analyst.
- Two positions in the Campbell police department to work on crime prevention and community awareness.
- Two fire service aides. One to do an inventory and records update and one to work on fire hydrant reburbishing and community information.
- Four park security aides for John D. Morgan Park.
- One person to refurbish park and street furniture including benches, poles and traffic signs.

Talk set on how to avoid a burglary

One way to minimize losses due to theft is to mark personal belongings.

Sgt. Bob Wallace of the Campbell Police Department will speak on home security and demonstrate how to mark possessions with Identi-Kit, an electric engraver, at the Campbell Library on June 18 at 2 p.m.

Ten Identi-Kits are available through the library by the Campbell Kiwanis Club. They can be checked out for four days using a driver's license as identification.

Water rate hike okayed

Campbell Water Company was granted another rate increase request last week by the state Public Utilities Commission. The 1.2 per cent hike will add about 14 cents to the average monthly bill.

On April 24 a 3.4 per cent increase went into effect to pay for increased power costs and to provide a wage increase.

The latest increase, which will bring in $8,628 annually, took effect Monday, June 6.

According to President Homer Hyde, this increase was to offset the April 15 rate hike by PG&E.

A typical monthly bill for a residential customer will go from about $11.88 to $12.02, according to a report by the PUC. There will be no increase for the first 500 cubic feet of water used.

Hyde added that an additional rate hike request may be filed this summer if PG&E is granted another increase on July 1, as now proposed.

"If the increase is substantial," Hyde said, "we will file."

Happiness is a day at the park ...with a friend

Swing into things this summer at the 4th annual Day Camp for youngsters four through 10 at John D. Morgan Park. Cherilyn Root and Suzie Evjen plan to. Both Kiddie Kamp for the 4-6 set and Kamp for Kids for the 7-10 year olds gets underway on June 20. The two-week camp offers trips, crafts, hikes and games with family nights so campers can share their new skills. The younger group meets from 10 a.m. to noon, with a 1 to 4 p.m. schedule for older youngsters. If you miss the first session there'll be more, starting July 5, July 18 and August 1. Six are honored at WVFT dinner

"It was a warm, human, emotional experience for all who attended," reports Gordon Martin, president of the West Valley Federation of Teachers and host of an honor banquet last Thursday in Campbell.

More than 100 Campbell teachers and some community members gathered in Sunsweet Hall to pay tribute to Eleanor Graham Armstrong, the guest of honor and former Campbell elementary school trustee. She served on the local board for 14 years.

Also honored were former trustees Dick MacQuiddy, Ralph Steinberg and present trustee Jennie Vaughn.

That evening special recognition was also given to former trustee John Merriell and former district superintendent William (Bill) Henley, who served from 1944-1965.

"We planned this affair as an opportunity to acknowledge the contribution each of these fine individuals has made to the school district," said Martin.

This 'good neighbor' saved a man's life

THE RAGING FIRE at the Appletree Square Apartments on Gale drive May 30 caused over $200,000 in damages, gutted six of the eight units and produced a hero.

Tom Ovesen, 32, risked his life that night to save an 84 year-old neighbor who faced almost certain death in the inferno and the account by witnesses and by Ovesen himself equals any pocketbook adventure story.

During the late night rescue the local man broke through a locked sliding glass door, searched the apartment for the elderly man and dropped him into the arms of bystanders before leaping from the second story balcony; injuring his ankle.

"Tom did a magnificent job!" exclaimed Ann Ashton the day after the fire at 831 Gale dr. She looks after James Boasso 84, and was in her apartment that night when the fire broke out in a ground floor apartment. She was forced back by the flames as she tried to make her way upstairs to rouse Boasso, who was sleeping soundly.

One of the first to spot the blaze was Ralph Ribera, who raced around the complex knocking on doors, arousing the mostly elderly tenants and getting them outside.

Hearing people screaming, "fire," Ovensen, an employee of a Cupertino computer firm, called the fire department and went outside where he learned Boasso was still in his apartment which was already engulfed in flames.

Fire was burning in the stairwell to Boasso's second floor apartment so Ovesen asked several men standing nearby for a boost to the trapped man's balcony.

"I was up there before I knew what was going on," Ovensen recalls.

HE SMASHED the sliding glass door with a heavy metal plant holder and found his way through the smoke-filled apartment to Boasso's bedroom, woke him and then carried the 100-pound man back through the burning apartment.

After Ovesen entered the apartment observers saw flames engulf the glass door and most thought there was no way Ovesen, or Boasso, would get out alive.

"It was like a matchbox," Ashton commented. "The fire was so hot it killed my plants and melted their plastic pots on my balcony across from the fire."

Ovesen, meanwhile, was feeling his way through the two bedroom apartment.

"I got down on the bed and felt around," Ovesen says, "then went to the other bedroom and saw an image on the bed but couldn't be sure it was Boasso.." Trying not to alarm the elderly man, Ovesen says he called, "Grandpa" a few times, pulled the covers off and woke him gently.

"He sat up like he was spring loaded," says Ovesen who picked up the slight man and carried him through the smoke filled apartment to the balcony. It had only taken two minutes but by this time the walls were half gone and smoke poured through the ceiling. The front door fell in as they made their way through the living room.

OVESEN REACHED the balcony with Boasso and had to yell for help to lower the man to men below.

"Everybody was frozen waiting for something to happen," Ovesen declared.

William Sullivan, a resident of the complex, and two unidentified men grabbed Boasso as Ovesen lowered him by one arm.

With Boasso safe, Ovesen tried to re-enter the apartment to make a through search for other possible victims but the smoke was too thick and the flames too close. His 10-foot leap to the ground twisted his ankle but that didn't stop him from helping the department pull out hoses and direct traffic.

Other than Ovesen's ankle, there were no injuries in the blaze and those who lost their homes and belongings were relocated to vacant apartments and provided food and medication by the Red Cross.

Ovesen, and others, did have some criticism of the handling of that 11 p.m. fire. They claim it took between 10 and 15 minutes for the fire equipment to arrive after calls were made.

"Too damn long," Ovesen adds.

But a check of the official tapes in the Police Department Communications Center shows it took five minutes, from the time the first call was placed, until the first fire engine arrived on the scene.

This is a common complaint in a major fire, commented Jerry Miller, head of the city's communication's center. It just seems longer.

Before it was controlled the fire required eight pieces of equipment, from both Campbell and San Jose, and over 30 fire fighters on the scene.

And when they arrived Boasso had been wrapped in a blanket and was on his way to his daughter's house and Ovesen, with a noticeable limp, was out front waving them in.

Official ground-breaking ceremonies were held at Cambrian School last week for the new play equipment and turf area. Equipment was installed last weekend and members of the Cambrian School Men's Club installed the redwood border. Pictured, from left, Kriten Boyce, project co-chairman; Robert Kemppe, principal; Joanne Rinnert, president of the Home and School Club, Barbara Eddy, co-chairman, and Joyce Barber, publicity chairman. The club raised $3,700 this year for the play equipment.

Housing authority up to bat

The county housing authority has already passed two hurdles in plans to construct 200 units of low income senior housing in Campbell. This Monday they face a third.

Housing officials are expected to come before the City Council at their June 13 session to seek a cooperative agreement statement allowing them to apply for a federal housing and urban development planning loan.

Two years ago voters in Campbell gave approval to the 200-unit plan. And recently the housing authority received word from HUD they'll consider funding for a local project under "New Construction" monies.

Last week John Burns, executive director of the housing authority, said no specific proposal has been developed yet but that the HUD grant, if approved, would allow developing the specifics for the housing project.

Since voters indicated their approval for additional housing for seniors in 1975, several privately financed projects have been proposed. Two church-connected projects, one on Winchester and one on Budd ave., have been before city officials in recent months.

Corinthian House on Budd ave. was given approval and Wesley Manor, a high rise complex, is still pending.

Need a co-sponsor for your group?

Local groups can now apply for co-sponsorship through the City of Campbell Community Services Department.

Last month city councilmen approved a new policy which allows Community Services to assist groups in getting use of facilities, publicity and with assisting with organization if needed.

Right now the only group being co-sponsored by the city is the Campbell Dolphinettes, a synchronized swim club.

Those who can apply under the new policy include local groups recreational in nature, or those who provide leisure-time activity, with 50 per cent of their active membership residents of Campbell.

Half of the officers of the group must also be city residents but there is a provision to allow co-sponsorship even if the last two residency requirements aren't met.

Any group interested should obtain a copy of the procedures and an application form from City Hall, 75 N. Central ave., or call 378-8141 weekdays for more information.

Co-sponsorships are granted on a year to year basis.

Where's the hot dogs for July 4?

So far just three groups have signed up for concession stands at the annual Fourth of July celebration at John D. Morgan Park.

Free booth space, for refreshments and games, are available for all non-profit community groups.

Call the Chamber of Commerce at 378-6252 weekdays for more information.

The Campbell Kiwanis Club plans to sell cotton candy and man the dunk tank, members of the Campbell Rainbow Girls plan to sell soft drinks and operate a dunk pond booth and the Campbell High School Pep Club plans a cake walk.

So where's the hot dogs, hamburgers and popcorn?

A BIRDIE TOLD US

Last week the Campbell Chamber of Commerce held their annual invitational golf tournament and the usual happened:

Pete Edwards, of golf cart piloting fame, managed to hit two houses with one long drive that went astray.

Many protested the others weren't following the rules of the game.

Doc Stander won the trophy and the dubious distinction of taking the most strokes for the 18 holes; 167.

Winners in the tourney were Wally Perry, George Kasolas, Bobby and Phil Luoto, Jerry Bartholow, Bill Barnes, Homer Hyde, Bob Benster and Phyl Dale.

About 80 players turned out for the dinner following the tourney and the awards ceremony.

Scores were not available since Chamber executive Ted Rogers took them along with him to a convention last Friday.

Some inside observers say that was no accident.

We hear you

You had a headline in your May 25 paper about "Brontosaurus at the park" and in the story you mentioned a dinosaur would be installed at the park for kids to play on.

Who says it's a brontosaurus? It could be a stegosaurus, tyrannosaurus or several other dinosaur types.

Young Reader

Editor's note: Dino the Dinosaus IS a brontosaurus, according to Edith Morley of the Parks and Recreation Commission. Also, I don't think a stegosaurus would make for good play equipment for Campbell Park. The spike-like projectiles on its spine would make for a rough slide ride.

I had some trouble understanding the story about road work for the north loop street. What's going to happen to Campbell ave. when it's all done?

Old Timer

Editor's note: During most of the construction period Campbell ave. will remain a west-bound through street. When the north loop (Civic Center drive) is opened, Campbell ave. will be converted into a one-lane, east bound street with stop signs at Third st. and the railroad crossing. The City Council okayed funds to help convert Campbell ave. into a meandering road with some planter boxes, etc.

A pleasant surprise

Editor:

It was both surprising and gratifying to witness a dramatic switch in votes concerning exemption from the Saratoga Use Permit at the May 19 West Valley College Board of Trustees meeting. The reversal occurred when a once 6 to 1 Board favoring exemption, prior to the March election, became a 6 to 1 Board opposing exemption. Trustees Sorensen, Lindstrom and Brydon, reversing their previous adamant positions supporting exemption, joined Lopes, LaMarre and Cantlen in voting to abide with the city use permit.

The lone dissenter in this action was Trustee William Gould, who once again voted in favor of exemption. This is the same Trustee Gould, who in a letter printed in the May 11 Saratoga News, asked the question "Please tell us what we can do to create a mutual feeling of trust?" It was perceptive of Reverend Gould to recognize that a lack of trust does indeed exist between the district residents and the college administration and Board. However, instead of supporting action that attempts to restore this trust, Reverend Gould cast the only vote in favor of continued exemption, proving once again that "actions speak louder than words." It appears that only Trustee Gould still believes that the college should be forever insulated from any responsibility or control by the local government.

The Board of Directors of West Valley Taxpayers and Environment Association believes that the vote of the six West Valley College Trustees at the May 19 Board meeting indicates, finally, that the college is indeed a part of the surrounding community and that it must comply with all regulations and legal requirements in the Saratoga city use permit.

West Valley Taxpayers and
Environment Assn. board of directors

Three cheers Cunningham

EDITOR:

First, let me start off by saying in no way would I be considered the typical enthusiastic Little League type mother or sports enthusiast! In fact almost the opposite might be true since sports are a constant topic of conversation in our household. So I sort of turn off to it all, but where Gary Cunningham, Del Mar's varsity baseball coach, is concerned, I cannot close my eyes and ears to what this talented man has done to upgrade the interest in varsity baseball at Del Mar High School.

His ingenuity in stimulating Del Mar students' interest in baseball has been outstanding. Also his efforts in encouraging his team members by personal appraisal has been extraordinary. Articles in the Campbell Press were also of his doing.

Short pants for high school baseball athletes were pretty far out, but not so for Gary Cunningham's team. They were the first to show off their good looking (?) legs and set a new precedent for the area.

Gary Cunningham is one who has given much of himself to what I am sure he believes in; youth and building good sportsmanship.

As a parent, I feel many of our teenagers are fortunate and will long remember that a man named Gary Cunningham once crossed their paths.

Lock up your wallet

EDITOR:

Thomas Jefferson said, "Free government is founded in jealousy, and not in confidence which prescribes limited constitutions, to bind down those whom we are obliged to trust with power."

The time has come for taxpayers to reassert their rightful authority in governing this state and to put a lock on our wallets. No administration policy, statement or recommendation should be accepted at face value, and investigation of governmental actions should be conducted on a continuing, year-round basis.

As a major step to stop widespread local property tax increases which result from area reassessments, The Initiative Petition Group, P.O. Box 295, Penryn, Ca. will attempt to circulate a statewide initiative to require any further tax increases at any level of government be first submitted to voter approval. This would compel governing bodies to justify any tax increase. We also have included a freeze on property taxes.

If you, the taxpayer, are fed up with the high rollers in government and would like to control your tax dollar, we would like to send you a copy of our Initiative. Please write us at the above address. We need help in circulating this petition.

What about citizens rights?

Editor:

An estimated four million illegal aliens are holding jobs in the United States, one million of which are desirable white and blue collar positions. The Immigration and Naturalization Service, joined by the labor department, believes illegals can be discouraged from entering the country by curbing their employment opportunities.

Attempts to pass federal legislation penalizing employers who intentionally hire illegals died when the Senate failed to act on the House bills.

The illegal alien problem is reaching severe proportions, and in the absence of remedial legislation, will continue to worsen, the House Subcommittee on Immigration, Citizenship and International Law wrote last year. The intensified opposition by employer associations, religious groups and the Mexican American community successfully discouraged legislation.

While passage of federal legislation in the near future appears doubtful, the State of California passed a bill authored by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett (R) which placed a prohibition on employers for knowingly hiring illegal aliens. This bill, The California Illegal Alien Law implemented by section 2805A of the labor code, if enforced would make available one million jobs for American citizens in California.

Instead of enforcing this law our panty waisted Governor Brown is allowing the State unemployment offices to refer illegal aliens to jobs without seeking proof of legal residency, and in Santa Clara County the Board of Supervisors with total disregard for law enforcement passed a resolution calling on the federal government not to enforce the Alien Law, and call a halt to any campaign that would round up illegal aliens throughout the nation.

Senator Alan Cranston, who should and does know much about the criminal activity of illegal aliens, but has done nothing about it, last week told the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors that he would introduce legislation to require the federal government to reimburse counties for half the cost of emergency medical services they provide illegal aliens which cost the Los Angeles County last year 48 million dollars, and the Santa Clara County over half a million. This bill will, of course, make it more attractive to add aliens to our welfare system.

We have one more do nothing about it, Senator Hayakawa, who thinks that the 8 to 12 million illegal now in our country is good for the economy and wants to add more legally by importing aliens on a new Bracero program.

The influence of illegal aliens extends far beyond their penetration into the job market. They are gaining a political voice, which is loudly calling for amnesty for all illegal aliens, and has so far been successful in blocking any action to tighten controls. Their political clout was shown last week at a Santa Clara Human Relations Commission meeting when the coverage of illegal alien activity in San Jose by the Mercury was criticized. Sister Sandra Pierce of the Christian Coalition accused the newspaper articles on the illegal alien issue of dealing with assumptions rather than facts. Maybe Sister did not see the study made last year by the federal government charging the illegals cost the U.S. taxpayer about 13 billion dollars a year.

The Immigration Service estimated that more than six out of 10 who enter the country illegally each year come from Mexico, but they also come from other countries of the Caribbean basin and from Peru, Ecuador, the Philippines, Korea, Thailand, Greece, India, Iran and Nigeria.

The point is that we simply seem to be so busy protecting the rights of aliens that we may be forgetting about the rights of American citizens, those who have a stake in the country beyond the immediate economic opportunities. The Commissioner of Immigration has criticized the apparent lack of public concern for what he called the silent invasion that will bring about, if not slowed down, a bilingual America in 50 years.

Sugar's past gave her the strength to meet the present head-on

By GLENN LEBOWITZ

HARD AT work at the Campbell adult education center is Shakar Kodadad, who lives with her husband in East San Jose. She has two daughters and a grandson, Michael, 12. Khodadad proudly becomes a United States citizen June 15. Last week she looked back over a life filled with adventure, hardship and success. (Photography by Amy Huntoon)

"WHEN LIFE IS hardest it is also sweetest," Shakar Khodadad said.

It that's true than Shakar Khodadad's life has been pure sugar. The much travelled Assyrian immigrant has overcome hardships that few Hollywood screenwriters would even dream of.

This short, frail looking woman, with a springy step, Cheshire cat grim and foreign accent, has snuck past Turkish guards in wartime, escaped from a Persian general, saved the lives of over 20 companions, and taught English for 15 years for Goodwill Industries.

Khodadad, 65, who plans to teach English to other Assyrian immigrants at the Metropolitan Adult Education Program (MAEP), 400 Campbell ave., will proudly become a United States citizen on June 15. For her, it is a dream come true.

Khodadad has been a Sunnyvale and now an East San Jose resident ever since she followed her two daughters to the United States in 1966.

ALTHOUGH Khodadad is an active person and contributes much of her time to the MAEP she still loves to talk about her exciting past.

Khodadad fled Russia in 1918 at the age of six, with an uncle, after the deaths of both her parents. She was adopted by the Ellises, American missionaries in Iran, with whom she began to learn English.

War broke out, and Shakar (which means "sugar") escaped to freedom with the Ellises by sneaking past Turkish guards. Dr. Ellis hid young Khodadad under clothing and luggage at the bottom of a carriage, with only a tiny hole for her to breathe through. She nearly suffocated.

The Ellises went back to the United States for a year and had to leave Khodadad with relatives in Iran. She ran away to an orphanage because her relatives would not send her to school. All she carried with her were some clothes and her "dolly" that had accompanied her ever since her exodus from Russia.

In a later experience, Khodadad, while traveling to Baghdad with a group of 20-25 people, was forced to break from the group and flee for her life after being confronted by a Persian general who desired to take Khodadad from the group. She bribed a guard, climbed on a horse while wearing a gold filled belt, and outraced Persian soldiers to a British army camp.

SHE WAS GIVEN credit for saving the entire group by causing enough confusion to allow the others to escape unharmed, as well as rescuing her guardian's gold.

Khodadad married at 15 and a half years old and lost her first four children from paratyphoid. She later had two daughters, Marina and Valentina.

Once a talented swimmer and equestrian, Khodadad wanted to make sure both her daughters developed their talents, too. She struggled to provide Marina, her eldest, with piano lessons, and Valentina with dance lessons.

HER EFFORTS paid off. Valentina, who came to Sunnyvale in 1964 at age 18, was a champion gymnast and dancer. Marina, who followed Valentina to Sunnyvale at age 22, is a concert pianist and piano teacher.

Although Khodadad has had an exciting life, she does not live in the past. She is very active in her family life and at the MAEP.

"If I stay home, I will be crazy," Khodadad said. "I want to use my brain. This world is a school for us. You will learn till you die. I am happy I am alive."

Disco turndown appealed

June 13 meeting

AN APPEAL on the turndown of a teenage nightclub, progress report on the downtown parking district and problems with a youth group's application for a bingo permit will be under discussion at the Monday, June 13 meeting of the Campbell City Council. Sessions start at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber, 75 N. Central ave.

Realtor Paul Polizzi is appealing the turndown of the use permit for Robert Firato that night. The coffee house-discotheque was planned for two vacant shops on Campbell ave. at the Railway ave. intersection. Planning commissioners denied that application earlier citing traffic hazards at that location.

BILL McLAUGHLIN, co-owner of The Factory was reportedly still attempting to put together a limited parking district last week, involving just The Bodega and Factory. He'll be giving a report on this progress that night.

The Knight Raiders Drum and Bugle Corp don't qualify for a bingo permit, a report by the City Attorney and Police Chief show.

According to City Manager Bob Stephens, the local group doesn't qualify since they are leasing the Moose Hall on McGlincey. Under present city ordinance non-profit groups must either own property where they host bingo games or operate a permanent office under a lease agreement.

Officers of the youth corp are reportedly trying to work out another lease agreement to comply with city regulations.

Also on display throughout this month will be the works of Grace Townsend, teacher of serigraphy and batik for Saratoga's Parks and Recreation Department and past president of Saratoga Contemporary Artists.

In the Old Mill Specialty Center you'll find a marvelous Continental restaurant which is upstairs & very correctly called UPSTAIRS AT THE OLD MILL. They serve lunch, dinner, cocktails, also a complete catering service. They now serve a Sun. brunch from 10-3 & you'll soon find a fabulous new wine list featuring some new, small premium local wineries & some new French vintages . . . This w/be a wine connoisseur's delight.

Who likes to stand in line, cafeteria-style, such as some steak houses. One of the things I like about SIRLOIN AND BREW UNLIMITED at 12333 Saratoga-Sunnyvale Rd, Saratoga & 510 El Camino, Belmont, is seating at booths or tables & receiving full waitress service. Soft candlelight, early Calif. pictures add to the experience. Best of all are unlimited wine, beer or sangria at reasonable prices (under $5 for some steak dinners). In Fremont, you receive these things at 40800 Fremont Blvd.

You can always have a unique dining experience at the 94TH AERO SQUADRON located at the S. J. Airport . . . It's a fascinating restaurant that serves fine food & you'll be intrigued by watching the planes land & listening to the tower give landing instructions from headphones at each table. This is a restaurant for the whole family. Chad Jefferies plays music down in the Bunker lounge Tues.-Sat. nites; Roxanne plays danceable music of the 40's every Sun. so there's always entertainment.

Early evening specs. from 5-7 at CLEMENTINE'S, incl. Rack of Lamb, $4.95; Chicken Villerette, $3.95; a 5 oz. Filet Mignon, $4.25; Prime Rib Sandwich, $3.95; Red Snapper, $4.95, served w/rice or baked potato & vegs. Last week I was incl. in a group from CLEMENTINE'S that visited the new ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB in S.F. It was fantastic! Make a note to visit this new restaurant that serves such spec. as Escargots & Mushroom Caps in Garlic Butter, Rack of Lamb Croute, Beef Tenderloin & Dungeness Crab. ROSEBUD'S (over a million dollars worth of decor) is located on Geary next to the St. Francis Hotel. Congratulations to owners Bill Monroe & Ed Thrasher who masterminded this huge success!

WINCHESTER WIDENING

Officials of Campbell and Los Gatos met recently to discuss possible widening of Winchester boulevard, between Hacienda ave. and Lark.

The conclusion, according to Mayor Bill Podgorsek is that, "we're about $800,000 away from completion of the project."

Major hurdle in widening that stretch of road according to Podgorsek, is with funding with Campbell and Los Gatos sharing equally in the cost.

Campbell has tentatively scheduled the $400,000 under long range public works projects but has yet to come up with financing.

Public Works Director Joe Elliott was scheduled to meet with his counterpart in Los Gatos to discuss temporary road revisions, including a widening of the road near the Pollard rd. intersection to allow for an extra turn lane.

SUMMER OFFERINGS

Campbell will have everything from a Frog Jumping Contest to special interest classes and a day camp for youngsters this summer.

Mail-in registration is now being taken at City Hall for such classes as dog obedience, golf, racquetball, modeling, bridge, backpacking, tennis and the Jitterbug.

Special events this summer include an August Hoe-Down, Baton workshops and a special workshop for seniors to help them enhance natural beauty.

Trips and special events are planned for teens and seniors this year with classes for all ages getting underway the last week of June.

For a brochure showing the complete schedule, or more information about a specific offering, contact Community Services at 378-8141 weekdays.

Mail-in registration continues through June 14 with walk-in sign-ups set for June 15 and 16th from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

RENT AND PROPERTY TAX HELP

Senior citizens who rent can now qualify for assistance through a new state law which allows from $9 to $211 a month in payments for those with income under $5,000 who pay at least $50 monthly rent.

Under the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance law claimants who have a total income under $12,000 (compared to $10,000 last year) can receive help on property taxes paid on the first $8,500 of assessed value (that was $7,500 last year).

To get more information or apply for assistance contact the County Recorder's Office.

COMMUNITY SCHOOLS PLANS PRESENTATIONS

Four presentations to official bodies are planned by the Campbell Community Schools Working Committee over the next two weeks.

The group has finalized its study and will be presenting the information to the Campbell City Council, June 13; West Valley Joint Community College board, June 16; Campbell high school district trustees, June 23 and Campbell elementary trustees, June 28.

Anyone interested in working with the Committee or in finding out more about community schools can contact John Hanrahan at 378-5369 or Larry Klepinger at 378-7558.

EXPLORATION DAY

The Aquarian Fellowship Hall at 873 Delmas in San Jose will host speakers on the physic, prophecies and meditation at their "Heart of America" day of exploration Saturday, June 11 starting at 10 a.m.

A total of seven speakers are scheduled during the day-long event.

For information or advance registration call the Hall at 293-8715.

Backpack class set

One way to avoid getting lost or injured on your backwoods camping expedition is to be adequately prepared.

Community Services is offering a backpacking course from June 21 to July 7, consisting of eight lesson for $20, to teach you that there is more to backpacking than a rucksack and the yen to hike.

The course, taught by Brian LaPlante, will cover equipment, first aid, food planning, clothing, shelter, weather forecasting and the use of map and compass through six evening classes, a day hike and a backpacking trip.

Registration for the course, which will be held at West Valley College, Latimer ave. stie, will be processed by Community Services, 75 N. Central ave.

For information call 378-8141, ext. 252.

Elderly a target of 'bank' cons

By Capitol
News Service

CALIFORNIA'S elderly residents lost about $223,000 last year to phony "bank examiners," approximately 35 per cent more than was lost in 1975, according to Attorney General Evelle Younger.

Younger said there were about 141 reported victims of the fraud in 1976. Most victims, he said, were between the ages of 62 and 92.

The attorney general said victims are people anxious to do their share in fighting crime by cooperating with law enforcement. Consequently, they are inclined to be fooled when they get a telephone call from a fake examiner.

The scheme usually involves a team of confidence men, Younger said. They select victims' names from the telephone book, then call one person after another until they find someone in the upper age ranges who will fall for the ploy.

They then tell the victim they are "bank examiners," and ask the victim's help in investigating an employee suspected of pilfering funds.

SUCCESS of the investigation, the victim is told, depends on the victim remaining silent, not contacting anyone about the investion of his bank and the amount of his account, tigation, and following instructions exactly.

During the conversation the victim reveals the loca-Younger siad.

He or she is then told to withdraw a specific amount of money — generally several thousand dollars — from the bank. Shortly after the withdrawal is made, one of the team arrives at the victim's home, identifies himself, and starts to mark the bills. He then gives the victim a receipt and takes the money.

Several days later, when the victim has not heard from the "bank examiner," he or she calls the bank, only to find out about the swindle.

Younger said information about this and other frauds can be obtained from the Public Inquiry Unit of the Attorney General's Office, 555 Capitol Mall, Sacramento 95814.

Private utilities appraised

By CAPITOL
NEWS SERVICE

Taking what was termed a "hard and realistic look at the worth and value of California's public utility monopolies," the State Board of Equalization assessed the property value of 165 privately-owned utility companies for the 1977-78 tax year.

The appraisals were based on the market value of properties used for utility purposes. Non-utility holdings of the companies are appraised locally by county assessors.

Utility property includes the holdings of railroad, telephone, telegraph, gas, electric and car line companies, as well as intercounty pipelines, flumes, canals, ditches and acqueducts. The firms appraised by the board represent approximately six per cent of all private property in the state.

Appraisals for gas and electric companies ranged from $20,000 for the Garberville Gas Co. to $6.7 billion for Pacific Gas and Electric Co. Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. ranked highest among telephone companies at $8 billion and Mobilfone, Inc., was highest among radiotelephone companies at $1.65 million.

Southern Pacific Pipe Lines, Inc., at $110.5 million, and Southern Pacific Transportation Co., at $751 million, were first in their respective categories.

Individual companies have the right to appeal the appraisals. The board's final assessment will be made in August.

nutrition notes

The older person has special dietary needs

By DOROTHY TERRILL

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dorothy Terrill, a registered dietitian and instructor at De Anza College, holds a M.S. in nutrition from UC-Berkeley. Questions about nutrition are invited. Address all questions to: Dorothy Terrill, Nutrition Notes, Suburban Newspaper Publications, Inc. P.O. Box 368, Cupertino, 95014. Mrs. Terrill will answer questions as space allows.

While good nutrition can't "restore youth," as one popular writer claimed in a recent series which ran in a local newspaper, eating nutritious foods can aid in minimizing and delaying the degenerative changes which are associated with age. The aging process does involve changes in organs of the body which lead to less efficient functioning and to disease. A survey done in 1971-1972 showed that the most common nutritional deficiencies among the older American are iron, vitamin A, vitamin C, and calcium.

Obesity is a common problem for the mature adult. Decreased activity along with decreased basal metabolic rate contribute to unwanted weight. The RDA for calories for people over age 50 is 2400 for men and 1800 for women. This is 200 to 300 less calories than for the person who is 23 to 50 years. The World Health Organization recommends that the calories be decreased 10 per cent for each decade after 40 years. The woman who, at age 39, eats 2000 calories per day, should then eat 1800 calories at age 50, 1620 calories at age 60, and 1460 calories at age 70. The older person who maintains a high activity level — still does their own housework, works in the yard, paints the house, etc. — will not have to make such drastic cuts.

Protein should not be decreased in the older person. Protein may be absorbed less efficiently and there may be protein loss due to illness at this time in life. Therefore, an intake of one gram of protein for every 2.2 pounds of body weight is recommended. An ounce of meat or one egg contain about 7 grams of protein while an 8 oz. glass of milk contains 8 grams of protein. Due to high food costs, protein foods are sometimes cut. Dental problems may cause an older person to eat less meat since they may not want to chew it.

Carbohydrate food should not be eliminated but the carbohydrate should be from starches — whole grain breads and cereals and fruits and vegetables — and not from sugars. About 50 to 55 per cent of the total calories should be carbohydrate but of this, only 5 to 10 per cent should come from sugar. Unfortunately, as a person gets older they often crave sweet-tasting foods more than the other, more nutritious foods. As for most Americans, a fat level of about 30 per cent is desirable.

Calcium and iron are two minerals that older people should be especially careful to obtain. The main source of calcium is milk and dairy products. As people get older they often have difficulty digesting lactose, the milk sugar, and so discontinue using milk in their diet. If this should occur, they can try cheeses, yogurt, and drinking small amounts of milk at a time. Sometimes these will offer suitable solutions to the calcium problem. Sufficient calcium throughout life is necessary to help prevent osteoporosis, a bone disease which affects 10 per cent of the population over 50 years old. The RDA for iron is decreased for women over 50 years to 10 mg. Iron-rich foods such as liver, whole grain breads and cereals, and leafy green vegetables should be eaten.

Fiber and water are important in the diet to prevent constipation. For people aged 65 to 90 years, it has been reported that they need 1-1/3 quart of fluid a day. About 50 per cent of this can come from the water that is in foods. Sufficient fiber can come from fresh fruits and vegetables and whole grain breads and cereals. Adding bran to the diet may be dangerous if overdone. One study of 27 elderly patients who ate 10 to 20 grams of unprocessed wheat bran daily for 6 weeks had lowered iron and calcium levels. However, the blood cholesterol was also lower.

Since the quantity of food should be decreased as one gets older to prevent obesity, it is important that foods high in needed nutrients be chosen. It is even more important than during youth and middle age to limit "empty calorie" foods and to choose foods of high nutritional quality.

IF ONLY I WEREN'T A BED WETTER!
HELP YOUR CHILD solve this serious problem.

If I weren't a BEDWETTER, I wouldn't feel ASHAMED, EMBARRASSED, BE TEASED or WORRIED ABOUT SOMEONE FINDING OUT.
If I weren't a BEDWETTER, I'd be able to GO TO CAMP, stay OVERNIGHT WITH FRIENDS, and not feel like I'm DIFFERENT... and MOM wouldn't have all that WASHING!
If I weren't a BEDWETTER, I'd be so proud and I'd feel a heck of a lot better and so would my mom and dad. IF ONLY I WEREN'T A BEDWETTER!
Bedwetting is a serious problem and it can cause deep psychological problems. If it's not caused by organic defect or disease, it can be ended. Mail coupon or phone for our free brochure, "Bedwetting — what it's all about and how to end it," a report by three medical doctors. No Obligation.

We Gladly Accept FOOD STAMPS

June 11 through June 17

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19): In dealing with one who is difficult, Ari, avoid the sharp put-down. Instead, be soft and sweet. You accomplish more this way. An overdose of sugar is often more effective (and more deadly), than a drop of vinegar. Week ends on a note of anticipation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): You can be flattered, you can be tempted, and, on occasion, you can be seduced. But, you can never be rushed! You, Taurus, move at your own speed. Week of choices ricochets to a noisy fini.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Messages highlighted. Written, spoken, wired and whispered. You find yourself in a bit of a flurry concerning personal decision. Advice: Open your heart and close your wallet. On last day, Gem, you find love in a daisy bed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Inner conflict can be resolved. Be flexible. Circumstances change, Moonbaby, and you'd be wise to re-evaluate your present attitudes. This is not the week to be the sturdy oak. This week be a willow. Bend.

LEO(July 23-Aug. 22): The computer within works overtime, Leo, as interesting info is fed into it. Spin-off from main idea can prove valuable. You set the style, the climate, and others follow. Willingly. As usual.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): New approach needed to solve old problem. You can recall the past, dear Virgo, but you must not live there. Today is what really matters. The muscles of your mind will atrophy if not exercised daily, and since your brain is a marvelous laboratory . . . experiment!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Exaggeration and irritability are your fatal flaws, Libra. Get these venial sins under control and your Great Big Dramatic Sins will diminish in direct ratio to energy expended. Honestly. You'll see.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Mounting tension subsides temporarily. Offers and promises highlighted. Don't be too hasty about writing your acceptance speech. Seek advice from a prudent Pisces. Before week is kaput, Cupid winks. Wink back.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Source of aggravation can now be put into reverse and give you joy. You learn important lesson. Time ideal to open new lines of communication. But first, sweet Saj, you should allow yourself to unfold like a rose of many petals.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You grow and growing can be painful. But pain in a nutcracker that can crack your shell of understanding. Study words to Saj. Week ends on note of hope.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Ideal week to go after what you really want, Aquari. You know, chase it down. Don't wait for good fortune to come knocking at your door. Patience may be a virtue, but so is pursuit. Now, get cracking!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You walk tightrope. Don't look back and (especially) don't look down. To maintain your precarious balance, Pisces, you must look straight ahead. Distant goal is all that matters. Study words to Aquarius for secret message.

Your dreams and you — a library talk

How many times have you awakened wondering what that dream you just had was all about? Was it representative of unrealized desires, working out a problem, or forecasting the future?

Woods Mattingley, head of the Seeker's Quest, an organization devoted to helping people understand themselves and their psychic experiences, will speak on dream analysis at the Campbell Library on June 23, at 7:30 p.m. The free program is open to the public.

Mattingley believes dreams are made up of symbols and everyone has their own. He will discuss his own dream experiences and offer suggestions for those who want to begin analyzing their own dreams.

Bob turned some scrap metal into a going business

By GLENN LEBOWITZ

IF YOU EVER see a strange vehicle rolling down the street, that looks like a cross between a hungry monster and a car manufacturer's nightmare, don't be alarmed.

It's probably just Bob Kugler, 18, pulling along his specially designed cart, cluttered with gardening tools, on his way to manicure a neighbor's lawn.

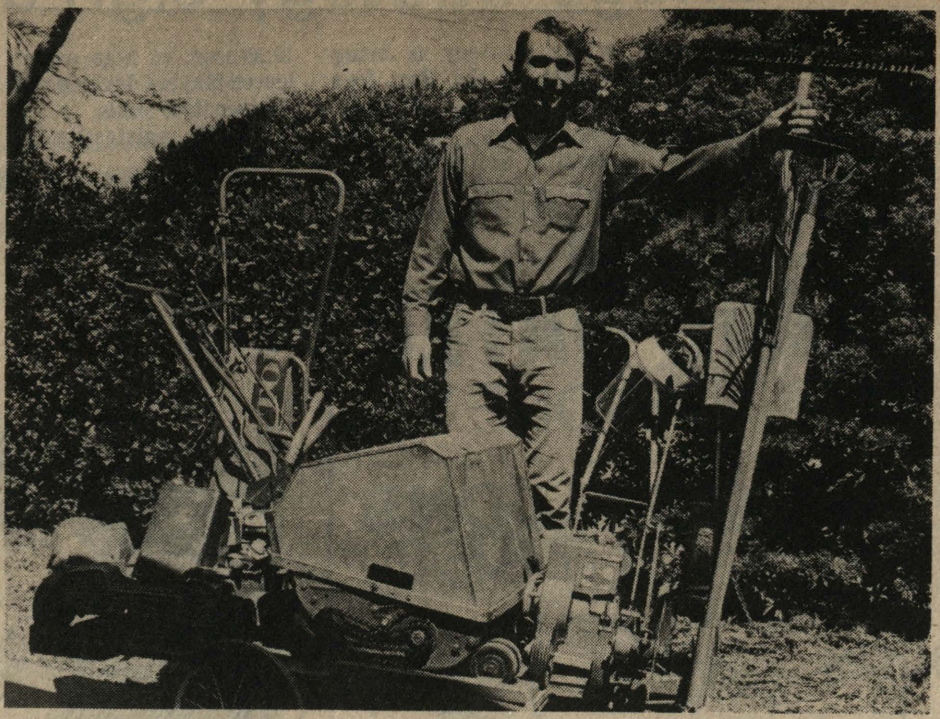
Bob and his father, Booth Kugler, of 305 Leigh ave., designed a cart out of scrap materials to transport Bob's gardening tools. The cart, with a place for each tool, has springs to act as shock absorbers, an aluminum A-frame and an automobile's universal joint, all adding up to a smooth riding, convenient mechanical creation, capable of supporting 300-400 lbs.

Kugler, a nine year veteran of the lawn cutting business, is an industrious fellow. Besides his lawn business and cart, he has undertaken such projects as building a wood lathe and five ton hydraulic press, singing in a church choir, painting, laboring over 200 hours on a mechanical drawing that won first prize at the county fair, and winning the Bank of America Business Award.

"I'M NOT SATISFIED with what I have," Kugler explained. "I'm always trying to better myself."

A Del Mar High School senior and "A" student, Kugler limits his lawn business to 12-15 customers and six hour work weeks because he doesn't want to detract time from his studies.

Kugler tries to save most of his $30-40 weekly earnings to aid him in achieving his long range goals of an agricultural degree from Cal. Poly and his own farm in the San Joachin valley.



THE WEIRD thing posing in front of Campbell's Bob Kugler is his homemade gardening cart. This strange contraption was recently written up in a trade magazine. Bob, a Del Mar senior, plans a career in agriculture.

O'Connor

$52.6 million project gets state approval

A new O'Connor Hospital will be constructed on the present Forest Ave. site beginning in the fall of 1978.

Last week the hospital received approval from the state department of health for the $52.6 million project which involves modernization and replacement of the present facility, built in 1953. Completion of the project is slated for 1982.

The State approval signals the beginning of 18 months of planning and design prior to construction.

The new building will be constructed in two phases, with uninterrupted hospital service. The current facility will be operational throughout the construction process.

Phase One includes construction of half the new structure west of the present facility. After the first half is completed, the west wing of the present hospital will be removed and Phase Two will begin.

Only the 1969 addition to the hospital will remain.

O'Connor is a fully-accredited, private, not-for-profit general hospital, founded in 1889 by Judge Myles P. O'Connor and operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent De Paul.

Defeat ST for Region honors

Buccaneers settle for CCS 4th place

OUT OF THE 130 some baseball teams in the Central Coast Section there could be only one ultimate victor. The Campbell Buccaneers had hoped it would be them.

But it wasn't to be for the Bucs, who suffered consecutive losses at last weekend's CCS paly-offs in Salinas and wound up fourth.

Although they had failed to achieve the goal they had set for themselves — the CCS championship — the Buccaneers could still take pride in what they had accomplished.

After a slow start, Campbell had finished strong to capture the West Valley Athletic League crown. And in a tough game with Mt. Hamilton Athletic League kingpin Santa Teresa, the Bucs pulled out a thrilling 6-4 triumph for the Region III title.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of," said Campbell head coach Gordon Huntze, following his club's fourth place finish at the CCS tournament. "We still feel we could have competed with any of the other three teams in the play-offs. We wanted to do well at CCS, of course. But just being there was something to be proud of."

The Bucs weren't blown out of either game they played in the tournament. In fact, either or both contests could have wound up being Campbell victories.

The Bucs opened the play-offs with a 9-6 loss to Soquel, having led 4-2 at one point. In the consolation finals, the Buccaneers were nudged 5-2 by the Buchser Bruins.

EARNING ALL-TOURNAMENT honors for the Bucs were Mark Raust and Cliff Judd. Judd had three hits in the two games and stole four of four bases. Raust had three hits and three RBI's.

Things looked good for the Bucs in their play-off opener against Soquel for four innings.

Campbell, behind the pitching of Ben Ortiz, took a 4-2 lead into the top of the fifth. But by the time the third out of the frame was recorded Soquel had come up with four runs and had taken a 6-4 lead.

The Bucs tied the game in the bottom of the fifth. Wes Mitchell led-off with a single and promptly stole second. Raust singled him home. Frank Giammona singled Raust to third, where he scored on a passed ball.

But Soquel retaliated with three unearned runs off reliever Mitchell in the sixth and that proved to be the difference in the game.

Campbell had drawn first blood in the contest with a run in the first. Judd led-off with a single and moved to second on Dan Trinidad's bunt. After stealing third, Judd came home on Raust's infield grounder.

In the second, Giammona opened the frame with a double, went to third on Brian Bagley's sacrifice bunt and scored on Trinidad's single.

The Bucs snapped a 2-2 tie in the third. Tindall doubled and scored on Mitchell's base hit. Mitchell then stole second and rode home on Raust's single.

Judd, Mitchell, Raust and Giammona each had two hits in the loss. Judd stole three bases and Mitchell swiped a pair. Raust drove in three runs. Tindall had the only other Campbell hit, a double.

AGAINST BUCHSER, the Campbell offense never really got going and could generate only five hits.

"Both teams were a little down after losing their first games," noted Huntze. "When Buchser got a couple of runs early it kind of got them excited again."

The Bruins, champions of the Santa Clara Valley Athletic League, struck for one run in the first and two more in the second off Buc starter and loser Mark Sullivan.

The Bucs tried to get back into the contest with a run in the fifth. Ryan led-off with a single, advanced to second on a grounder and scored on Bagley's base hit.

But Buchser came right back with two runs of its own in the bottom half of the fifth to break the Bucs' back.

Campbell tallied once more in the seventh on a triple by Giammona and a sacrifice fly by Scott Pence.

Giammona was two for three in the defeat, Judd had a double and Bagley and Ryan both had singles to account for Campbell's five hits.

Judd also pitched a perfect inning of relief.

The losses at CCS dropped Campbell's sparkling season record to 19-8.

Campbell earned a berth in the tournament by toppling Santa Teresa 6-4 in the Region III finals at PAL Stadium.

SULLIVAN WENT the distance for his ninth victory of the year, scattering eight hits and three walks while fanning three.

"He had pretty good control and he worked out of a couple of real tough jams," said Huntze, in praise of Sullivan.

The Bucs were seemingly on their way to a relatively easy triumph heading into the top of the fifth.

But a 4-1 Campbell lead quickly disappeared when Santa Teresa slugger Rich Ross belted a two out, bases loaded double to tie things up.

The Bucs, however, came right back in their half of the fifth. With one out, Sullivan, Ryan and Giammona rapped consecutive singles to produce one run. Bagley then squeezed home Ryan with an insurance run.

Sullivan retired the Saints quietly in both the sixth and seventh to hang on for the victory.

Santa Teresa had tallied first with a run in the second. But Campbell tied it in the bottom of the second when Raust doubled and later came home on Sullivan's two bagger.

Campbell snapped the 1-1 tie in the second on a Judd double and Mitchell single.

In the fourth, Ryan tripled and scored on Giammona's single. Giammona moved to second on a grounder, to third on a fly out and came home on Judd's perfect drag bunt single.

Giammona, Ryan, Judd, Trinidad, Mitchell and Sullivan all had two hits in the Region III title tilt while Raust contributed a double.

Dons dominate vault at CCS

IT'S NOT often that one school can truly dominate a particular event in track and field competition within a league. But it's even more uncommon to see a school dominate an event on the Central Coast Section level!

Well, Del Mar high school's pole vaulters did just that when the best track and field athletes in the CCS got together recently for their championships on the San Jose City College oval.

Three Dons finished in the top six spots in the CCS pole vault to dominate the event at the prestigious meet.

Blake Fearnside was second in the event for Del Mar with a 15' vault. Bert Tardieu was fifth at 15' and Rod Rodriguez was third at 14'6".

Del Mar's Jeff Dove also placed for the Dons at the CCS finals. Dove romped to a fourth place finish in the 880 at 1:54.78.

Prospect athletes nailed a pair of places at the CCS event. Dave Sheehan whirled the discus 166'8" for a fourth place finish and Mike McNiven covered the 330 low hurdles at 37.75 for sixth.

Cubs capture Moreland crown

Second half underway in Bobby Sox loops

By JEFF WAGNER

The season is already half over for the local Bobby Sox leagues. Moreland, West Valley and Campbell second halves are underway.

MORELAND

The majors finished the first half in a tight battle. The Cubs ended up the winners with a fine record. The Giants finished second, with the Red Sox and Yankees tied for third. The four teams were separated by only two games. Scores from the second half are not known at press time.

The Dodgers (9-1) clinched the title in the minors division. The Royals (7-2-1) came in second.

In second half games, the Dodgers boosted their record to 3-0 by defeating the Athletics 16-2 and the Tigers by the same score. The Pirates, also 3-0, defeated the Mets 14-4 and the Athletics 11-8. The Royals, after dropping their second half opener, won two in a row, 13-2 over the Tigers and 16-6 over the Mets.

WEST VALLEY

The Wyoming Wranglers, the major's first half champ and only undefeated major team in the first half, lost their first game in the hands of the Stingers. The Stingers pitcher, Lisa Pusateri, pitched a five-hitter, had seven assists, and scored three runs to help her cause. Kris Turner had two hits and three RBI's for the Stingers. Lisa Bertaccini struck out 12 batters in a losing cause.

The Stingers won again on May 24th. Dionna House went three for three with two home runs and a triple for five RBI's. Michele Spicher also had two homers. Pitcher Sharon Lavin went three for four at bat with four RBI's.

The Bionic Grasshoppers won their third straight game by defeating the Sunshine Special. Mary Sheehan and Pam Miller homered while Lisa Monroe reached base six times in the winning effort.

Sue Miner pitched a fine game for the Twisters, but lost a heartbreaker, 11-9, to the Royals in a game played in the minors.

Chris Athens of the Villians pitched eight strikeouts and went three for three in a game against the Kopy Kats.

The Royal Runners and the Villians played in a see-saw, stand-off game. The contest ended in a 12-12 tie due to rain. In another second half minor league game, the Boonie Goonies beat the Twisters, 7-3.

CAMPBELL

The Mets of the major division captured the first half title by going 10-1. Second place is undecided, as the Reds and the Pirates are deadlocked and have make-up games to decide it. The final first half scores had the Reds beat the Expos 10-3, the Pirates shut-out the Cubs 10-0, the Mets outscored the Giants 17-11 and the Dodgers upset the Padres 10-7.

The Cubs beat the Padres, the Dodgers shocked the Phillies and the Giants defeated the Expos in three other games.

There was a tie in the minors, as the number two Royals defeated the number one Twins 7-5 to finish the first half with identical records (8-3). A play-off game will be played soon.

First half games had the Indians beating the Athletics 13-11, the White Sox edging the Angels 14-12 and the Tigers getting by the Orioles 18-17 in a thriller.

Ex-WVAL batmen complete strong seasons at SDS

A PAIR OF former West Valley Athletic League baseball players just completed strong seasons pitching for the San Diego State Aztecs.

Camden high school product Thad Troedson and Los Gatos' Mike Couchee just wrapped up successful seasons for San Diego.

Troedson finished the year with a 10-3 record and a 3.63 earned run average, appearing in 26 games and tossing more than 100 innings. He struck out 43 and walked just 27.

In Southern California Baseball Association play, Troedson was 3-1 with a 5.79 ERA, appearing in 10 of San Diego's 24 games. He whiffed 14 and walked 11.

Couchee was 9.2 on the season with a 2.05 ERA, striking out 46 in more than 70 innings. In league play Couchee was 4-2 with a 3.14 ERA, fanning 17.

Another former WVAL bat standout, Jim Guardino of Campbell high, just finished a strong year as a catcher for the De Anza Dons.

Guardino ended the '77 season for De Anza with a .345 batting average in his freshman season.

Dan Gladden, a Don outfielder who prepped at Westmont high school, finished his sophomore season with a .306 average for De Anza, going 23 for 75 and scoring 14 runs in 21 games.

Artery double lifts Cubs to Pony League victory

By JOHN VAUGHN

RUBEN Artery's double down the line drove in Mark Paquin to help the Cubs slide past the Mets 2-1 in Campbell-Moreland Pony League play.

Wade Allison of the Cubs was the winner, pitching a six-hitter. The Met's Rick Farrell was the loser, pitching a four-hitter.

The Giants tilted the Dodgers 9-0 on Friday. The Giants' Keith Lindsey struck out 17 Dodgers and gave up two hits. Vince Giron and Mike Reilly led the Giants in hitting with two hits apiece.

The Cardinals eased past the Yankees by the score of 6-2. Steve Dickson of the Cardinals singled in the winning run in the sixth inning. Ken Comee received the win, allowing only three hits. Dave Wesendunk led the Cardinals with two hits and three rbi's. Doug Shaddox led the Yankees' hitting with two hits.

Ballard registers gem in Moreland LL play

MORELAND

The Angels finally got a taste of their own medicine recently in the major division of the Moreland Little League.

The Angels, who had no-hit three opponents earlier in the season, were no-hit by the Senators' Scott Ballard in a 12-1 loss.

The Senators, however, wound up on the short end of a 12-9 score against the Cubs in another Moreland contest. Danny Beaudry hit the first homer to clear the fence this season for the winners.

In Moreland major division standings, the Giants and Cubs shared first with 10-3 records. Following the leaders were the Yankees (9-5), the Dodgers (7-6) and Mets (7-6), the Angels (4-10) and Reds (4-10) and the Senators (3-11).

WEST VALLEY

The Phillies have pulled ahead in the race for the second half championship in the West Valley Little League's major division.

The Phillies sat in second with a 4-1 record while the Cards and Braves were each 2-2.

A great race has also arisen in the Senior-American (Majors), the Giants (4-2) holding a slim one game lead over the Braves (4-3).

In other West Valley action, the Yankees led the minors while the Astros were ahead in the Senior-National league with a 9-2 record.

Panther girls cop WVGAL title

GOING undefeated in any league is tough. But that's exactly what the Prospect Panther softball team did this season in the strong West Valley Girl's Athletic League.

The Panthers breezed through the WVGAL with eight straight victories to earn a berth in the Region III play-offs. The panthers were knocked out of the play-offs by Willow Glen in the Region III finals.

Micelle Ney was the Panthers' top hurler on the season, ever allowing more than seven runs in a game. season, never allowing more than seven runs in a game.

Annette Blandford spearheaded the Panthers' offensive attack, finishing the year with a lofty .700 batting average. Mary Vetrano (.553) and Ney (.543) were also big hitters for the WVGAL champions.

Blandford had her best game of the season against Branham when she blasted three home runs. Vetrano clouted one homer in that victory over the Bruins.

Campbell pair puts on impressive show for Vikes at State

WHATEVER IT IS that they're putting in the water out at Campbell high school, West Valley College track coach Bill Campbell certainly likes. In fact, he likes it so much that he's interested in buying a few gallons and bottling it for any athletes headed for West Valley to run track.

Because whatever it is that they have in that water out in Campbell certainly makes athletes jump high and run fast — at least, if former Buccaneers Steve Oravetz and Wayne Gray are any indication.

Both Oravetz and Gray ran and jumped their way to high places in the California Community College championships to carry the West Valley College banner to a strong state finish.

Oravetz soared to a second place finish in the pole vault, jumping well enough to share the new state meet record with Charlie Brown of El Camino College.

And Gray came back a week later to post an impressive fifth in the state decathlon championship, finishing ahead of all other freshmen in the competition.

Oravetz flew to 16'11¾" to share the new meet record with Brown, but had to settle for second on misses. Oravetz made a strong try at 17'5" but tipped the bar on his way down on the try for the National Junior College record.

Gray rolled up 6,661 points on his way to a fifth in the state decathlon meet, competing in the 10 event program for just the second time.

Gray was second after the first day with over 3700 points. The former Buc ran the 100 meters in 10.7, long jumped 22'9", put the shot 34', high jumped 6'2" and ran the 400 meters in 49.7.

The second day he romped to a 15.7 in the high hurdles, flipped the discus 111', topped the pole vault bat at 9'6", whirled the javelin 150' and covered 1,500 meters in 4:40.

"HE DID A very good job," said Campbell of Gray. "He improved himself in every event but one."

Gray had attempted the decathlon for the first time during Easter week at the Northern California decathlon meet at De Anza. He finished fourth with 6,219 points. At the state competition last weekend he improved that score by 442 points.

Just 160 points separated the second through sixth placers at the state decathlon.

His state performance could have won Gray a trip to the National Junior AAU championship on June 17 in Knoxville, Tennessee.

Zaro scores game winner to punch Breuners to Campbell 1st half title

By JOHN VAUGHN

Fine pitching by Darrell Jones and excellent hitting by Wally Jasso, Robbie Hartman and Dave Bryant enabled Breuner's to skim past D's Automotive 1-0 to take the first half title in the Campbell Little League.

The game was deadlocked going into the bottom of the fifth inning. Both teams had been threatening to score, but neither could produce a run.

But in the bottom of the fifth inning, Jerry Zaro of Breuner's walked, stole second and scored the winning run on Jasso's double down the leftfield line. D's Automotive desperately fought back in the top of the sixth inning, but their attempts were futile.

Thomas Silvas of D's Automotive was the losing pitcher. Scott Shaffer and Robert Artery were the top hitters for D's.

Robins cruised past Willow Glen Optimist 7-0 Wednesday night. Andy Nagangast was the winning pitcher for Robins, fanning 10 and only allowing three hits. Willow Glen's Scott Barry took the loss.

In the minor league, Campbell Optimist trounced Campbell Rotary 11-2. Elite Cleaners beat Royal Brass Incorporated 10-2.
